Fish farm protestors march into Victoria

Written by Administrator Saturday, 08 May 2010 20:53

Alexandra Morton, well-known eco-activist and aquaculture opponent, led protestors into Victoria Saturday in the culmination of her 500-km walk against the British Columbia's salmon-farming industry. Morton and her supporters called for an immediate end to open-net fish farming on B.C.'s coast. She called on governments to take action.

More here and here

TAGS: Alexandra Morton, fish farming, aquaculture, salmon-farming, sustainable, fisheries

 $\label{eq:control_co$